

Switch to Solar

There are two main ways that the sun's energy can be used: to heat water (typically for use at home for showers, etc) and to create electricity which can be used normally in your home to power lights and appliances. The technical name for solar electricity technologies is "photovoltaics".

Now is a great time to switch to solar and save on energy costs whilst reducing greenhouse gas emissions.

